General Works

Kjelgaard, Jim, There is No Story Formula, 78

Last Cold Reading, The, Samuel W. Taylor, 110
Let It Stem from Character, Zachary Ball, 311
Litt, Iris, Writing for the Teen-Ager, 255; News from the New York Market, 379, 411
Love Pulps Pay Off, Joye Hoekzema, 326
Lowndes, Robert W., The Gold is Still There, 155

McNeil, Steve, Don't Gild the Lily, 383
Make 'Em Talk, Don Stanford, 5
Mansfield, Norma, Notes on Writing for the Slicks, 385
Manuscript Market, The, 28, 56, 90, 128, 162, 198, 231 263, 296, 330, 365, 401
Mason, Miriam E., The Vogue for Biography, 14
Masur, Harold Q., That Mystery Novel, 7
Material in Your Own Backyard, Lee Shippey, 179
Matter of Pace, That, Mona Farnsworth, 356
Moore, Isabel, The Delayed Ending, 282
Multiple Theme, The, Hazel Sullivan, 323
Mystery Novel, That, Harold Q. Masur, 7
Myth of the Unknown Writer, The, LeBaron Barker, Jr., 217

Neal, Harry Edward, Plotting is Easy, 258; Tricks and Traits, 391
News from the New York Market, Iris Litt, 379, 411
Nichols, Wade, and Rogers Terrill, What the Editors Want, 81
Norris, Robert B., Background of an Article, 284
Notes on Writing for the Slicks, Norma Mansfield, 385

Parker, B. Ford, Writing Greeting Card Verse, 393
Pearson, Haydn S., Honest — I Work for a Living, 184
Plotting is Easy, Harry Edward Neal, 258
Premature Novelist, The, Fred Reinstein, 388
Prize Offers and Awards, 36, 67, 103, 139, 175, 211, 242, 276, 308, 344, 378, 410
Professional Look, The, Pauline Bloom, 88

Rackowe, Alec, Style — A Phase of Technique, 39
Reader's Digest, Editors of, What The Reader's Digest Needs, 20
Reinstein, Fred, The Premature Novelist, 388
Rent Out Your Ivory Tower, Virginia Dale, 42
Richmond, Nathalia Walker, Understanding Magical Thinking, 11
Rodgers, Mary Augusta, Apply Your Own Rules, 71
Roesch, Roberta Fleming, Guideposts for Those First Two Pages, 182
Rosene, Michael, Storing Your Raw Material, 362

Schweitzer, Gertrude, A Hundred and Thirty Thousand Words a Year, 191
Seiler, Conrad, Behind the Amateur Curtain, 44
Shippey, Lee, Material in Your Own Backyard, 179
Stanford, Don, Make 'Em Talk, 5
Stebbins, Doris E., Food Brings Home the Bacon, 24
Storey, Ruth-Ellen, Editors are Gossips, 250
Storing Your Raw Material, Michael Rosene, 362
Style — A Phase of Technique, Alec Rackowe, 39
Sullivan, Hazel, It Depends on the Pupil, 187; The Multiple Theme, 323

Taylor, Samuel W., The Last Cold Reading, 110
TV Writing Without Flowers, Ralph R. Giffen, 51
There is No Story Formula, Jim Kjelgaard, 78
Transferring Emotion, Murray Hoyt, 314
Tricks and Traits, Harry Edward Neal, 391

Understanding Magical Thinking, Nathalia Walker Richmond, 11

Vogue for Biography, The, Miriam E. Mason, 14

Ware, Harlan, When Writing About Fog, 279
What I'd Tell Them, Arch Whitehouse, 247
What the Editors Want: What The Reader's Digest Needs, The Editors, 20; Redbook, Wade Nichols, 81; Argosy, Rogers Terrill, 81; The Gold is Still There, Robert W. Lowndes, (Columbia Publications), 155; The Woman's Home Companion, William A. H. Birnie, 194; The Beginning Writer and The American Mercury, Charles Angoff, 253; Tomorrow, Eileen J. Garrett, 289
When Writing About Fog, Harlan Ware, 279
Where Do You Get Your Ideas, Laurie Hillyer, 215
Where to Begin and Where to Stop, Naomi Lane Babson, 347
Whitehouse, Arch, What I'd Tell Them, 247
Whitney, Phyllis A., Why Not Fantasy?, 107
Why Not Fantasy?, Phyllis A. Whitney, 107
Working Backward, Bess Streeter Aldrich, 350
Worthington, Marjorie, Before Beginning That Novel, 226
Writer's Library, The, 26, 126, 161, 197, 244, 329, 364, 400
Writers Must Read, Richard Armour, 150
Writing Greeting Card Verse, B. Ford Parker, 393
Writing is a Profession, B. J. Chute, 143
Writing for the Religious Press, Marjorie Moore Armstrong, 260
Writing for the Teen-Ager, Iris Litt, 255
Wylie, Philip, Another Modest Proposal, 319

You, Too, Can Get Away With Murder, Jack Iams, 152
Your Best is None too Good, Anne Colver, 222